

Media contact

Michael Szuch ICJR
760.942.7859 x105
Mrszuch@icjr.net

International Congress for Joint Reconstruction Announces Collaboration with Knee Society

(San Diego) – The International Congress for Joint Reconstruction (ICJR) has announced a new collaborative effort with the Knee Society, which will allow ICJR members to view the entire 2012 Knee Society Open Meeting online.

The Knee Society Opening Meeting, scheduled to take place on February 11, 2012 at the Moscone Convention Center West in San Francisco, will be attended by orthopaedic surgeons, fellows, residents and allied health professionals.

“The Knee Society Open Meeting provides a wealth of the most up-to-date current practice information for treatment of the arthritic knee,” notes W. Norman Scott, MD, FACS, President of ICJR. “We believe this information should be made available to a wider audience, so we’re proud to extend the opportunity to our membership.”

Knee Society President Robert Bourne welcomes ICJR members to this annual event, adding, “We are pleased to have entered into an agreement with ICJR to capture the Knee Society Specialty Day at AAOS. We hope that many orthopaedic surgeons will take advantage of this unique opportunity to enhance patient care.”

To view the 2012 Knee Society Open Meeting, visit www.ICJR.net and sign up for membership.

#

ICJR, founded in 2007, is an independent, non-profit organization committed to building the next generation of education and community for physicians involved in joint reconstruction.

The Knee Society, based in Rosemont, Illinois, is dedicated to providing “an appropriate educational setting that will maintain the highest level of professional standards in order to promote continuous advancement in professional knowledge and improved treatment of disorders of the knee.”